

1st June 2020

Good afternoon everyone,

We hope you all had a good week and have enjoyed the warm weather that we have had and is looking as though it will continue this week.

We trust that this newsletter finds everyone in our school community safe and well. This week's newsletter is short, containing key information for those attending school from Thursday, and those remaining at home.

Home learning restarts today for all children. Remember, school is closed for all children until Thursday, including those who are key worker children.

For those attending school on Thursday, you will receive an email with confirmation that you are returning on Thursday. If you believe your child should be returning, but have not received an email, please contact the school, via email, immediately.

For those attending school next week, you will receive an email on Friday explaining who your child will be with and which classroom to go to.

The teachers are all ready to go with their daily activities so hopefully the children will get back into their routines quite quickly once more.

We have spent time reviewing both the content and the way that our home learning is delivered. Our aim is to provide consistency and high-quality learning opportunities for all our children, whether they are in school or learning from home. Over the next 2 weeks there will be a few changes made to the way we plan with a few live lessons taught, an improved offer of opportunities and feedback given to some children on English work submitted. Teachers are planning for these changes this week and these changes will be shared with you on Friday.

In the meantime, please check out the transition page on the website <https://www.clanfieldprimary.co.uk/transition.html>. You will find a virtual tour of the reception classroom, a presentation hosted by Miss Williams and a copy of the Early Years' vision statement.

It will be lovely to see the children back at school and we will continue to keep in contact with the year groups and children not yet returning. We look forward to the future when we can put this difficult time behind us and our school family are back together.

Have a good week,

Mrs Rogers and Mrs Smith
